

8. Intersectional Social Justice (In Palestine and Beyond)

Before we ask communities to be in solidarity with the Palestinian cause, and to be the best allies we can to other marginalized groups, our community needs to understand our own power, privilege, and biases. Through a personal reflection and understanding of intersectionality and ways in which we may be both privileged and underprivileged at the same time, this workshop aims to strengthen our community's ability to build strong coalitions with other groups for our collective liberation!
